The Conservation Commission and the Select Board was emailed by a resident of Goshen whose land abuts recently harvested forest in Chesterfield. The appeal was to see if anything can be done about flooding and erosion on her driveway that she believes is being created because of forest cutting run off. The location of the problem lies well outside a buffer zone to a stream that exists in Goshen. John responded to the complainer explaining that the problem is not an issue that falls under the Wetlands Protection Act. She was referred to the DCR State Service Forester and a follow up letter to the owner will be written.
